

Strategy Overview

The Cambria Core Equity ETF (NYSE: CCOR) utilizes a combination of several strategies to produce capital appreciation while reducing risk exposure across market conditions. Under normal market conditions, at least 80% of the value of the Fund's net assets will be invested in equity securities. The fund intends to invest the remaining value of its net assets in options where pricing provides favorable risk/reward models and where gains can be attained independent of the direction of the broader U.S. equity market. The Fund uses proprietary models and analysis of historical portfolio profit and loss information to identify favorable option trading opportunities, including favorable call and put option spreads.

Fund Description

The Cambria Core Equity ETF invests primarily in U.S. equities, specifically focusing on high-quality companies across all industries and sectors, that have prospects for long-term total returns as a result of their ability to grow earnings and their willingness to increase dividends over time. Under normal circumstances, the Fund also sells exchange traded index put and call options in an effort to reduce the Fund's volatility and increase return. In addition, the Fund also buys index put options, which can protect the Fund from a significant market decline that may occur over a short period of time.

ETFs are subject to commission costs each time a "buy" or "sell" is executed. Depending on the amount of trading activity, the low costs of ETFs may be outweighed by commissions and related trading costs.

Shares are bought and sold at market price (closing price) not net asset value (NAV) are not individually redeemed from the Fund. Market price returns are based on the midpoint of the bid/ask spread at 4:00 pm Eastern Time (when NAV is normally determined), and do not represent the return you would receive if you traded at other times. Buying and selling shares will result in brokerage commissions. Brokerage commissions will reduce returns.

There is no guarantee that the Fund will achieve its investment goal. Investing involves risk, including the possible loss of principal.

There is no guarantee dividends will be paid. Diversification may not protect against market loss.

An option premium is the dollar price per share that an option holder pays the option writer for the option privileges.

The Fund is actively managed.

Derivatives are financial instruments that derive their performance from an underlying reference asset, such as an index. Derivatives, such as put options, are often more volatile than other investments and may magnify the Fund's gains or losses. A small investment in a derivative can have a large impact on the performance of the Fund as derivatives can result in losses in excess of the amount invested. Options used by the Fund to offset its exposure to tail risk or reduce volatility may not perform as intended. There can be no assurance that the Fund's put option strategy will be effective. The put option strategy may not fully protect the Fund against declines in the value of its portfolio securities.
